

Amirh Wade
Monday, March 4, 2019
The Berkeley Institute
S4

Female Empowerment Essay

“If women understood and exercised their power, they could remake the world.” -
Emily Taft Douglas.

Female empowerment is the process to make women financially independent, educated and progressive. To me, female empowerment is women gaining their power in, what many people refer to as, a “man’s world”. For many, males are seen as the superior life-form but fail to realize that women are capable and qualified to perform the same roles as men. When women can overcome the limitations imposed on them by society, they can achieve independence in many aspects. This approach can ensure a brighter future for many of the young women who are brought up thinking that they are required to be a mother and employee. Changing the mindsets of women at a young age and allowing them to become empowered allows more women to explore their own strengths and release themselves from the enormous hardships they bore from creation. Female empowerment is a necessity. Not only empowering yourself but the women around you because the more empowered women, the more women contribute to improving the quality of life for women and have the younger women know that they are more than what society makes of them.